You speak for those that cannot speak.

And we speak for you.

MEMBERSHIP INFORMATION
Only the Canadian Veterinary Medical Association (CVMA) represents the interests and priorities of Canada’s diverse veterinarians. As a CVMA member, you’ll benefit from our wide range of activities and resources.

We speak for you on animal welfare: The CVMA shares your deep passion for caring for animals, and we advocate for the improvements veterinarians want to see for animal welfare. For example, we advised the government on enhanced legislation covering animal cruelty and animal transportation.

We help shape national policy and legislation that affect you: We track emerging veterinary trends in Canada and internationally to anticipate challenges and develop solutions. Some of our many initiatives include advocating for research on veterinary use of medicinal cannabis for pets, continued use of ketamine and compounded and extra-label drugs, and developing guiding standards and tools for improved antimicrobial stewardship.

We have resources to help you throughout your career: From your student days through to managing your practice to planning for retirement, the CVMA has resources tailored to your personal and professional needs. Like our business management services and tools, our health and wellness resources, our comprehensive practice insurance, and other career and practice tools and resources.

Take advantage of these and many other benefits by joining thousands of other veterinarians across the country who are already CVMA members. It’s an investment in your career—and in the future of veterinary medicine in Canada.
