Community Veterinary Outreach (CVO) is a registered charity that improves the health of homeless and vulnerably-housed individuals, families and their pets through a One Health model of care. By offering human health services and health education alongside preventative veterinary care, Community Veterinary Outreach provides innovative access to both veterinary and human health care for at-risk populations across Canada.

CVO partners with the animal health community, human health and social services, and academic institutions to deliver One Health services for people that include primary care, immunizations, harm reduction, oral care, smoking reduction/cessation, mental health support and active living. Through veterinary volunteers, sponsors and supporters, animal companions are provided with wellness examinations, immunizations, parasite control, microchip implantation, and spay/neuter.

In partnership with WSAVA and CVMA, CVO is excited to provide delegates with the opportunity to participate in an outreach day. This outreach day will include a 2.5-hour One Health workshop where we will provide background on CVO’s One Health model and approaches, along with presentations by both human and animal health partners, followed by a Community Veterinary Outreach One Health clinic for homeless and vulnerably-housed pet owners at the Yonge Street Mission in Toronto. Delegates will be supervised by licensed veterinarians.
